

FICTIONAL CASE SHOWCASE

Review across several issues

A connected chronology. Distinct questions. Conclusions that stay within the evidence.

MORGAN AND REED · APRIL TO SEPTEMBER 2026

An entirely fictional Morgan and Reed case. Collection arrangements, a supervision concern, school communication, a holiday plan and family expenses are reviewed together without conflating their evidence.

One record, six distinct questions

An integrated review connects the chronology without allowing evidence about one event to decide another.

The boundary between a record and an event

A message can demonstrate that a statement was made. It may describe an event without proving it. A later email can support one part of an account while leaving another part unresolved.

Morgan and Reed are fictional adults. Jamie, age nine, and Quinn are fictional. The school, suppliers and records are invented. The fixture runs from April to September 2026. It contains no actual child or family data.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Six questions, bounded conclusions

Question	Supported within the fixture	Still open
Collection	A delayed April collection and an agreed May substitute are recorded.	Cause of the train delay and later home arrival are not independently recorded.
Supervision	Morgan relays a concern; Reed and Quinn describe an adult present.	There is no direct recorded account from Jamie or objective timing evidence.
Holiday	A July proposal is amended and accepted. Return is acknowledged.	The fixture lacks a separate record of the outward collection.
School information	Both addresses are listed on 1 September; a test notice is acknowledged.	Earlier delivery and reading history is not reconstructed.
Contributions	£632 requested, £294 agreed, £226 disputed, £112 with no position.	No legal liability or overall affordability is determined.
Payments	£286 matched and £20 unallocated are recorded.	The £20 allocation and later £8 trip balance remain open.

A joined story is not a joined allegation

A disagreement about money does not prove a supervision concern. A school collection entry does not resolve an event at a fuel stop. A corrected contact list does not show that someone deliberately withheld earlier information.

Every conclusion below is tied to a defined question and source set. No credibility score, diagnosis, fault allocation or prediction of legal outcome is used.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Scope, source types and uncertainty

The purpose is to organise six questions from one agreed fictional record, preserving the full context of the selected communications.

Complete messages

8

Complete emails

6

Separate issues

Source type	Treatment in this review	What it cannot establish
Messages M01 to M48	Complete wording reproduced on pages 19 to 26.	Completeness of an actual account or device export.
Emails E01 to E08	Complete wording placed beside the corresponding issue.	Independent authenticity, delivery or unseen attachments.
12 receipts and 6 extracts	Selected financial fields reproduced on pages 15 and 17. Full texts are in the companion indexed bundle.	A complete household account or bank balance.

Evidence language

Recorded statement means words appear in the fixture. Consistent support means another entry addresses the same fact without a material conflict. Reported account identifies the person describing an event. Unresolved means this set cannot decide the point.

Ordering and clock

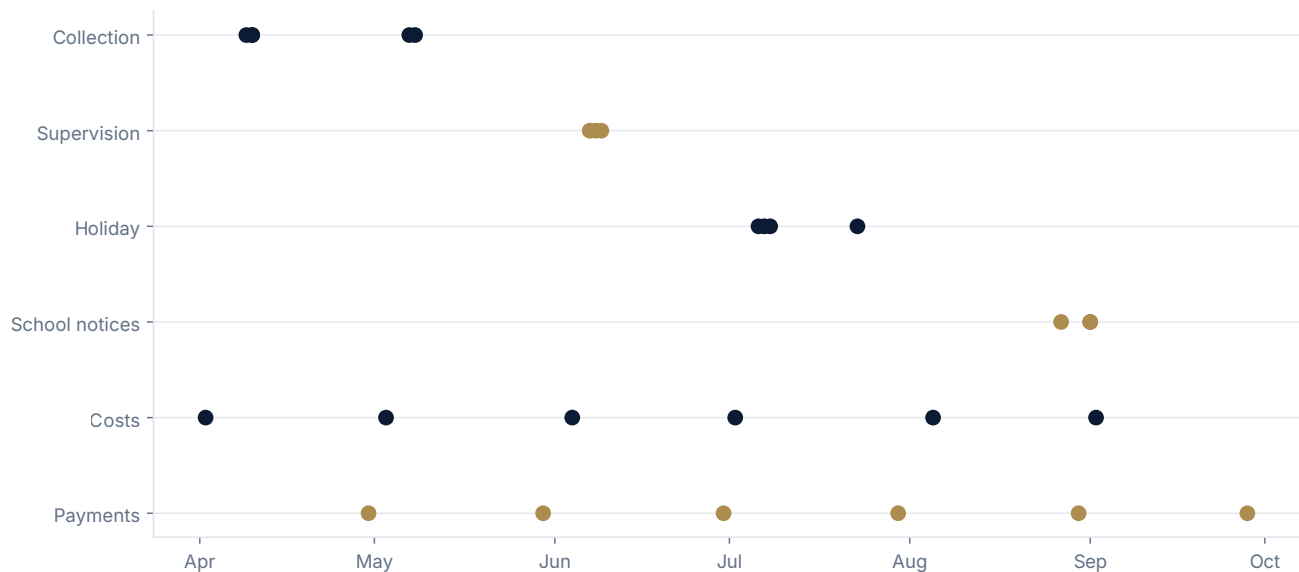

Entries retain stable IDs. The original fixture groups communications by topic, so a higher message ID does not always mean a later date. The chronology below uses the stated UK local timestamps. No hidden messages or missing attachments are reconstructed.

This is an entirely fictional demonstration. Sources are checked against this fixture only. No original device, bank, school or provider has been authenticated. The review does not establish a legal obligation, determine credibility or give legal advice.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Where the issues sit in time

The lanes below show selected dated records. They visualise source timing rather than the duration or seriousness of any issue.

Collection: M01, M03, E01, M07, E02. Supervision: M13, E03, E04. Holiday: M19, M21, E05, M24. School: M25, E06, M30. Costs: R01, R03, R05, R07, R09, R11. Payments: B01 to B05 and E08. Extract markers use extract dates, not every payment date.

Three separations that matter

The April collection delay is not the June fuel stop. The May arrangement with Quinn is limited to that collection date; it is not an ongoing permission inferred for every later event. July's initial holiday proposal is superseded by a later agreement.

Financial sources span the whole window. Their presence alongside communication records supplies context, not a causal explanation for the concerns or responses.

A timeline has limits

A dense cluster can reflect how the fixture was selected. It is not a frequency measure, a behaviour score or evidence that little happened in an empty interval.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

The joined chronology

Date in 2026	Neutral event	Sources
3 April	April club contribution is expressly agreed.	M31 , M32
9 to 12 April	Collection agreed, delay reported, collection recorded, return acknowledged.	M01 , M06 , E01
16 to 17 April	Uniform contribution requested and disputed.	M33 , M34
7 to 8 May	Quinn proposed, agreed and recorded as collector.	M07 , M12 , E02
20 May	Trip and shoe shares requested; trip share expressly agreed.	M35 , M36
7 to 9 June	Concern raised, response given, Quinn's account and Morgan's clarification recorded.	M13 , M18 , E03 , E04
19 to 20 June	Club share agreed and dental share disputed.	M37 , M38
3 July	Camp share partially agreed.	M39 , M40
6 to 8 July	Holiday dates revised and accepted.	M19 , M22 , E05
21 July	Device contribution disputed.	M41 , M42
23 July	Return at the library acknowledged.	M23 , M24
19 August	Club share agreed; no tutoring position stated.	M43 , M44
27 August to 1 September	Contact list queried and corrected.	M25 , M30 , E06
17 to 28 September	Contributions agreed, partial trip payment acknowledged and £20 allocation left open.	M45 , M48 , E08

Ranges above identify connected exchanges. They do not imply continuous conversation. The detailed source timestamps remain available in the complete excerpts.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Collection arrangements

Question 1. What was agreed, what changed and what completion evidence is present?

Event	Plan	Recorded completion
10 April	School at 15:30. Reed reports an expected arrival of 16:10.	Reed reports collection at 16:09. School records the same time.
12 April	Library return at 17:00.	Morgan acknowledges that Jamie is with them at 17:08. Exact handover minute is not stated.
8 May	Quinn at 15:30, with Morgan's agreement for that day.	School records collection at 15:32. Reed's 16:15 home arrival remains an intention.

I have spoken to the office. They can supervise Jamie from 15:30. Please tell them when you arrive.

Morgan · M04

Consistent support

E01 addresses the same school waiting period and collection as M03 to M05. The school's recorded time supports the collection time. It does not verify the train delay. E02 supports the May collection by Quinn, while expressly limiting what the record covers.

Counterweight to an overbroad reading

The collection changes are accompanied by notice and an agreed alternative in these excerpts. Omitting the response and office arrangements would materially alter the presentation. That does not prove that all future changes were agreed.

Unresolved point

There is no separate record of Reed arriving home on 8 May. Do not turn "I will be home as planned" into proof of arrival. M11

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Collection: complete supporting emails

Both entries describe the scope of the school register. Read those limits with the facts recorded.

E01 · 10 Apr 2026 · 16:30 · Oakfield school office

Collection record for 10 April

Our collection register records Jamie waiting with the office team from 15:30 and leaving with Reed at 16:09. Morgan telephoned before the end of the school day to tell us there would be a delay. We supervised Jamie until collection. This email describes only the school waiting period and the collection entered in our register. It does not record the train journey, the reason for the delay or arrangements after departure. Please contact the office if you think the collection entry needs a factual correction.

E02 · 8 May 2026 · 16:02 · Oakfield school office

Collection by Quinn on 8 May

We received Reed's email naming Quinn as the agreed collector and Morgan's reply confirming that arrangement for today. Our register records collection at 15:32. The office checked the name against the instruction supplied. This email confirms the entry in the school register. It does not confirm the time Reed later arrived at home or create an ongoing arrangement for Quinn to collect on other dates. Please provide a fresh instruction if the agreed collector changes.

Inference to avoid	Reason
A collection two minutes after 15:30 caused harm.	No such harm is recorded in these entries.
One substitute collection created standing permission.	M09 and E02 limit the agreement to that day.
The school verified the reason for a delay.	E01 expressly does not record the journey or its cause.

Messages M01 to M12 are reproduced in full on pages 19 and 20.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

A reported supervision concern

Question 2. What accounts are present about the fuel stop, and what can this set resolve?

Jamie told me about waiting in a parked car yesterday while you went into a shop. Was an adult with Jamie?

Morgan · M13

Jamie said you were not there. I do not know whether Jamie meant you or every adult. Please ask Quinn for her account.

Morgan · M15

Account	What is actually stated	Limit
Morgan	Jamie said Reed was absent; Morgan asks whether an adult was there.	Morgan was not present and did not record Jamie's words.
Reed	Quinn remained with Jamie while Reed paid for fuel.	The three minute estimate is Reed's account.
Quinn	She recalls sitting beside Jamie and discussing a book.	She did not time the stop and cannot explain Jamie's later words.

What remains unresolved

The fixture contains no direct recorded account from Jamie, no video, no location record and no objective timing record. The review cannot reconstruct the child's understanding or decide an exact duration.

Keep the response next to the concern

M14 and E03 give a materially different account from a reading that no adult was present. M15 itself recognises uncertainty about whether Jamie meant Reed specifically or every adult. No conclusion of neglect or safety is made.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Supervision: complete accounts

Quinn's recollection and Morgan's clarification are retained without treating either as an adjudicated fact.

E03 · 8 Jun 2026 · 12:15 · Quinn

My account of 6 June

Reed asked me to write what I remember about the stop for fuel on Saturday 6 June. I was sitting in the rear of the parked car beside Jamie while Reed went inside to pay. We were discussing a book. I did not use a timer and cannot give an exact duration. I remember Reed returning after a short time. I did not hear Jamie's later conversation with Morgan, so I cannot explain the words Jamie used. This is my recollection and I have not seen CCTV or a receipt showing the time of the stop.

E04 · 9 Jun 2026 · 10:00 · Morgan

Record of the supervision discussion

For the record, I raised the concern after Jamie said Reed had gone into a shop. My messages on 7 June asked whether an adult was present. I did not witness the stop and I did not make an audio recording of Jamie's words. Quinn's account says she stayed in the car. I want that account retained beside the concern, rather than presenting my first message without the responses. My request for advance information about another supervising adult concerns future arrangements. It does not independently establish what happened on 6 June.

The later arrangement is a separate fact

M16 and M18 record an agreement about adult supervision and advance information. An intention for the future does not settle an account of the past. Equally, an unresolved past account does not erase the later agreement.

Messages M13 to M18 appear in full on page 21. The concern, response, clarification and intended future practice can be read together.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

The amended holiday plan

Question 3. Which dates were finally agreed, and what part of the stay is recorded as completed?

Stage	Record	Implication
Initial proposal	20 to 24 July, return at 17:00. M19	A proposal, not the final agreement.
Counterproposal	20 to 23 July because of a work shift. M20	A stated reason and proposed change.
Acceptance	Morgan accepts 23 July and specifies collection. M21	Agreement changes the end date.
Confirmation	Reed restates both handovers. M22	The revised plan is explicit.
Return	Intended arrival followed by Morgan's acknowledgement. M23 , M24	Supports completion of the return, not its exact minute.

Why chronology changes the interpretation

Presenting the 23 July return beside the original 24 July proposal could suggest an early return. The intervening acceptance changes that reading. The review keeps the revision visible rather than selecting only the first and last messages.

A remaining evidence gap

The return is acknowledged, but there is no separate completion message for collection from home on 20 July. The itinerary cannot substitute for proof of that event.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Holiday: written confirmation and limits

E05 · 8 Jul 2026 · 09:00 · Morgan

Confirmed July dates

Following our messages, I have recorded the agreed holiday dates as 20 to 23 July. Collection is from home at 10:00 on 20 July. Return is to the library at 17:00 on 23 July. My earlier proposal ending on 24 July is superseded by our later agreement. Please flag an error before the stay if these details do not match your understanding. This note records the agreement; it is not a record that either handover has already happened.

Agreed sequence

6 July, 19:00

Morgan proposes a four night window ending on 24 July.

6 July, 19:25

Reed proposes a three night window ending on 23 July.

7 July, 08:10 and 08:22

Both messages confirm the revised dates and handover locations.

23 July, 17:12

Morgan acknowledges the library return.

Questions for a narrower follow up

If departure timing matters, obtain the specific 20 July record. If arrival timing matters, ask whether a contemporaneous completion entry exists. Do not estimate either from the timestamp of a later acknowledgement.

The complete M19 to M24 sequence is on page 22. No inference is drawn about contact outside this window.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Access to school information

Question 4. What is known about the school contact list and receipt of notices?

Date	Recorded fact	What it does not prove
27 August	Morgan reports only one address on a form and forwards it.	The school's full historical list or intentional exclusion.
28 August	Reed acknowledges the forwarded form and reports sending an address.	Delivery of every earlier notice.
1 September	School reports both addresses listed and sends a test notice.	That every earlier or future message was received or read.
1 September	Reed acknowledges today's test notice.	A retrospective audit of the whole notice history.

The school says both addresses are now listed. This does not tell us which earlier notices reached you.

Morgan · M29

Counterevidence to an absolute claim

The forwarding messages, direct contact with the office and test receipt are evidence of an attempted correction. They should accompany any description of the initial problem. They do not resolve when the problem started or why.

No attribution of motive

The record supports a contact list query and correction. It does not identify whether an earlier omission was intentional, technical or administrative. Missing notice delivery evidence remains a gap.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

School information: the office response

E06 · 1 Sep 2026 · 15:40 · Oakfield school office

General notice contact list

We have now listed both Morgan and Reed for general school notices and sent a test notice to both current email addresses today. This message confirms the list as at 1 September. The office has not completed an audit of delivery to either address before that date. Listing an address does not prove that every earlier or future email was received or read. Please tell us about a missing notice so we can check the individual message and resend it where appropriate.

A practical evidence matrix

Proposition	Support in this set	Status
Both current addresses listed on 1 September	School email E06	Recorded by the office.
Reed received the 1 September test	Message M30	Acknowledged by the recipient.
Reed received every earlier notice	No delivery audit supplied	Unresolved.
Morgan deliberately excluded Reed	No source establishes intent	Unsupported by this set.
The form was forwarded on 27 August	M27 states sent; M28 states received	Consistent statements.

What further material would add

A particular missing notice could be checked against its original recipient list, sending timestamp and any provider delivery record. A complete list audit would address a different, wider question and should not be invented from this exchange.

Messages M25 to M30 are complete on page 23. No technical email headers are supplied.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Costs: the requested share is a separate fact

Question 5. Which costs appear, what was requested and which contribution positions are explicit?

Receipt and item	Whole cost	Requested	Agreed	Disputed	No position
R01 · C01 April club	£48	£24	£24	£0	£0
R02 · C02 Spring uniform	£72	£36	£0	£36	£0

Costs: preserve the reason and the response

The same category label can conceal different disputes. The review records the specific words and avoids an inferred general refusal.

E07 · 25 Jun 2026 · 11:00 · Willow dental desk

Receipt reference RC06

The specimen receipt RC06 records £120 paid on 18 June for Jamie's appointment. Within this fictional billing record there is no refund entry between 18 and 25 June. We cannot determine from the receipt whether another person agreed to contribute or whether support could be available from a different source. The receipt and this reply address the amount recorded as paid to the practice, not the sharing arrangements between adults. No clinical information is included in this sample.

Position	Examples	Review treatment
Full agreement	April club £24, May trip £45, June club £24, August club £24, September uniform £42 and trip £55.	Record each explicit amount separately.
Partial agreement	Camp £80 agreed, £40 disputed. M40	Keep both amounts under one cost ID.
Express dispute	Uniform, dental and device. M34 , M38 , M42	Preserve the stated reason without deciding it.
No stated position	Shoe and tutoring shares. M36 , M44	Do not turn an omitted response into agreement or refusal.

The £338 above is £226 disputed plus £112 without a stated position. It is not a separate claim in addition to the £632 request.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Payments: item matching and cash totals

Question 6. Which transfers can be allocated, and which one remains separate?

Extract	Listed debits	Listed credits	Matched	Unallocated
B01 · Apr	£120	£24	£24	£0
B02 · May	£154	£45	£45	£0
B03 · Jun	£168	£24	£24	£0
B04 · Jul	£420	£80	£80	£0
B05 · Aug	£208	£44	£24	£20
B06 · Sep	£194	£89	£89	£0

Selected totals are reproduced from the six complete invented extract texts in the companion indexed bundle. No bank balance or omitted transaction is inferred.

Requested contribution £632 less item matched credits £286 = arithmetic difference £346. This does not include the £20 credit without an agreed allocation.

The £8 is specifically identified

C12 has an agreed contribution of £55 and a matched £47 payment. Reed expressly states that £8 will follow. That is more specific evidence than simply subtracting all credits from all requests. M46, M47, M48

The remaining £338 is the contribution position issue discussed on pages 15 and 16. It should not be relabelled as an agreed balance.

EVIDENCE. CONTEXT. CLARITY.

Payment allocation: the unresolved instruction

E08 · 28 Sep 2026 · 18:00 · Reed

Reference on the August £20 payment

The £20 transfer on 25 August was intended as a general contribution to Jamie's expenses. I did not choose a particular receipt or invoice when I sent it, and the reference was only Jamie expenses. I have not agreed to allocate that transfer to the disputed uniform, dental, camp or device amounts. Please keep it separate until we agree where it belongs. This email does not change the £47 trip payment or my message that a further £8 for that trip would follow.

£286

Matched transfers

£20

Unallocated transfer

£306

All listed credits

Two statements can both be true

Morgan cannot identify a cost against the £20 from the payment reference alone. Reed says it was a general expenses contribution without a selected item. Those positions can coexist. The transfer should stay visible while allocation remains open.

Possible new evidence	What it could change	What it would not change
An agreed allocation of £20	Which selected item carries the credit.	The fact that £306 in total credits is listed.
A later £8 trip payment	The agreed C12 remainder.	The original £47 amount recorded on 24 September.
A new contribution agreement	The status of the named requested share.	The historical wording of the earlier exchange.

The integrated conclusion

The source set supports arrangements, requests, responses and selected payments. It does not support a global label about either adult. Each unresolved question stays attached to its own source and its own potential next evidence.

The camp receipt is £240. I am asking for £120 as a half share.

M40 · 3 Jul 2026 · 18:40 · Reed

I agree £80 for camp. I dispute the other £40 because the extra days were not part of our plan.

M41 · 21 Jul 2026 · 18:10 · Morgan

The learning device cost £180. I am asking for £90 towards it.

M42 · 21 Jul 2026 · 19:00 · Reed

I do not agree the £90 device contribution. I had proposed using the tablet already at my home.
